Experience

Unofficial teacher Internet 07/2014 - Current

- In 2009, I started explaining and teaching English to my friends. At the time, I helped them understand what was being said in offline video games. As online gaming became more popular, I began teaching my friends how to communicate with people from around the world. This experience helped me develop my teaching skills and ignited my passion for teaching English.
- I still play games and socialize with new people in my free time, and I even teach some players.

English teacher Preply Home office 05/2015 - 09/2017

During my time teaching on Preply, I had the opportunity to work with around 8 students from various backgrounds, and it was great to see their progress as they improved their English skills. Designed and implemented scalable APIs and background workers for managing first- and third-party proprietary licenses using .net

One of the advantages of teaching on Preply is the flexibility it provides for both the teacher and the student. As a teacher, I was able to create customized lesson plans that were tailored to each student's individual needs and learning style. This allowed me to focus on areas where the student needed the most improvement and ensure that they were progressing at a comfortable pace.

In addition to teaching the fundamentals of English, I was also able to incorporate technology into my lessons, using tools like online quizzes and games to make the learning experience more interactive and engaging. This helped to keep my students motivated and interested in the material.

Family teacher Personal Teacher Husqvarna, Sweden 09/2016 - 04/2017

- During my time in Sweden, I had the opportunity to teach English to a local family. As half of the family was Swedish, I used my knowledge of both languages to create a tailored learning experience. Additionally, I helped my nephew learn Portuguese by using English as a base language.
- In terms of teaching methods, I often use a communicative approach, encouraging my students to speak and engage in conversations to improve their fluency. I also like to incorporate technology into my lessons, such as using online resources and language learning apps to supplement our sessions. Overall, my experience has taught me the importance of adapting to each student's needs and preferences to create a personalized and effective learning environment.
